Values for Oklahoma Systems of Care

One	Oklahoma Systems of Care (OKSOC) makes a persistent commitment to build trust and help every infant, child, youth and family (ICYF) achieve and maintain overall wellness, stability, and permanence in a safe environment.
Two	The infant, child or youth is viewed as a part of the whole family. ICYF participates in the discussions related to their plans, an opportunity to voice their preferences, and ultimately to feel empowered to drive the plan.
Three	Trauma-informed services and supports are developed and provided to best promote the overall wellness, stability and safety of the ICYF and community
Four	Plans for ICYF are individualized to the unique culture, beliefs, values, strengths, and needs of each child and family while promoting best practices.
Five	Services and supports build on the identified strengths of the ICYF and community.
Six	Services and supports are available early to facilitate overall wellness for the family.
Seven	Services are provided in the most appropriate and least restrictive environment in the home and community of the infant, child or youth.
Eight	The system of care is community-oriented with management and decision-making at the family and community level.
Nine	Services and supports promote healthy boundaries and balanced S.E.L.F. C.A.R.E. among ICYF, staff, leadership, and community: with Sleep, Exercise, Loving relationships, and Food that is nutritious, we are inspired to act with Compassion, Awareness, Respect and Empowerment.
Ten	ICYF are connected with natural supports such as friends, community social networks and resources to promote long-term sustainability.
Eleven	Cross-sector collaboration between agencies, schools, community resources, ICYF is the basis for building and financing a local comprehensive and integrated system of care.
Twelve	ICYF are equal partners with providers and community participants in identifying, creating, and evaluating the comprehensive and integrated system.
Thirteen	Services and supports are outcome-based with clear accountability, transparency, and cost responsibility. This includes accountability for use of public and private funds and the ability to use savings for early intervention.
